Why REDD+?

Forest Transition Curve

Scope of REDD+

- Developing country activities eligible for support :
 - Reducing emissions from deforestation (actions to diverge from the reference level by reducing the conversion of forest to non-forest)
 - Reducing emissions from forest degradation (diverging from the reference level by reducing the gradual loss of biomass due to activities under the canopy)
 - Conservation (continued good stewardship of forests, even without threat of deforestation or forest degradation)
 - Sustainable management of forests (reducing emissions through harvesting activities with lower impact)
 - Enhancement of forest carbon stocks (enhanced sequestration of carbon through afforestation, reforestation and restoration of forest land)
- No quantification of global deforestation target (as debated in Copenhagen and Cancun)

REDD+: Key Outcomes of COP16 (Cancun)

- Historical development
 - For the first time, the importance of stemming the loss of tropical forests for mitigating global climate change with financial support from the industrialized world is enshrined in an international agreement
 - Outcome of 5 years of focused and intense negotiations
 - The Kyoto Protocol's Clean Development Mechanism (CDM) has only allowed incentives for afforestation and reforestation (A/R) in developing countries, only through projects, and not to exceed 1% of 1990 emissions
 - Now whole countries will be able to receive incentives for much more than just planting trees, subject to verification that emissions have been reduced against a reference level

Elements of REDD+

Developing countries, in accordance with national circumstances and respective capabilities, should develop:

1. Plans: Strategy or action plan
2. Reference Levels: Forest reference emission level
3. Monitoring: Forest monitoring system for robust and transparent monitoring and reporting of activities
4. Safeguards: System for providing information on how safeguards will be addressed and respected throughout the implementation of activities

Phases of REDD+

- Phased approach
 - ‘Phase 1’: national strategies and capacity building
 - ‘Phase 2’: implementation of strategies
 - ‘Phase 3’: results-based activities that are fully measured, reported and verified (MRV’ed)
- 3 phases are not strictly sequential – overlaps exist

Scale of REDD+

- Accounting

- Emissions from forests will have to be accounted for (reference level + MRV) at the national level, possibly starting at the sub-national level as an interim measure
 - Depending on national circumstances
 - Subject to further modalities from Subsidiary Body for Scientific and Technological Advice (SBSTA)
- For Phase 3 activities:
 - Reference level: Must be national, possibly a combination of sub-national reference levels
 - MRV: May require biennial national greenhouse gas inventories

- Implementation

- Sub-national programs are accepted, but within national systems framework

Safeguards for REDD+ (1)

- Annex I: REDD+ activities will have to support and promote safeguards, though not at the expense of national sovereignty, in particular:
 1. Overarching framework of national development priorities
 2. Multiple uses of forests are recognized
 3. Knowledge and rights of indigenous peoples and local communities must be respected
 4. Indigenous peoples and local communities must be able to participate fully and effectively
 5. National forest governance structures must be transparent and effective, taking into account national legislation and sovereignty
 6. REDD+ must not lead to conversion of natural forests into plantations
 7. REDD+ must avoid displacement of emissions (leakage) and reversals (non-permanence)

Safeguards for REDD+ (2)

- Decision takes note of adoption by the General Assembly of the UN Declaration on the Rights of Indigenous Peoples (including free, prior and informed consent)
- UNFCCC mandates that countries provide information on how safeguards will be addressed and respected
- This text is much stronger than, e.g., the CDM, where it is left up to host countries of projects to define 'sustainable development'

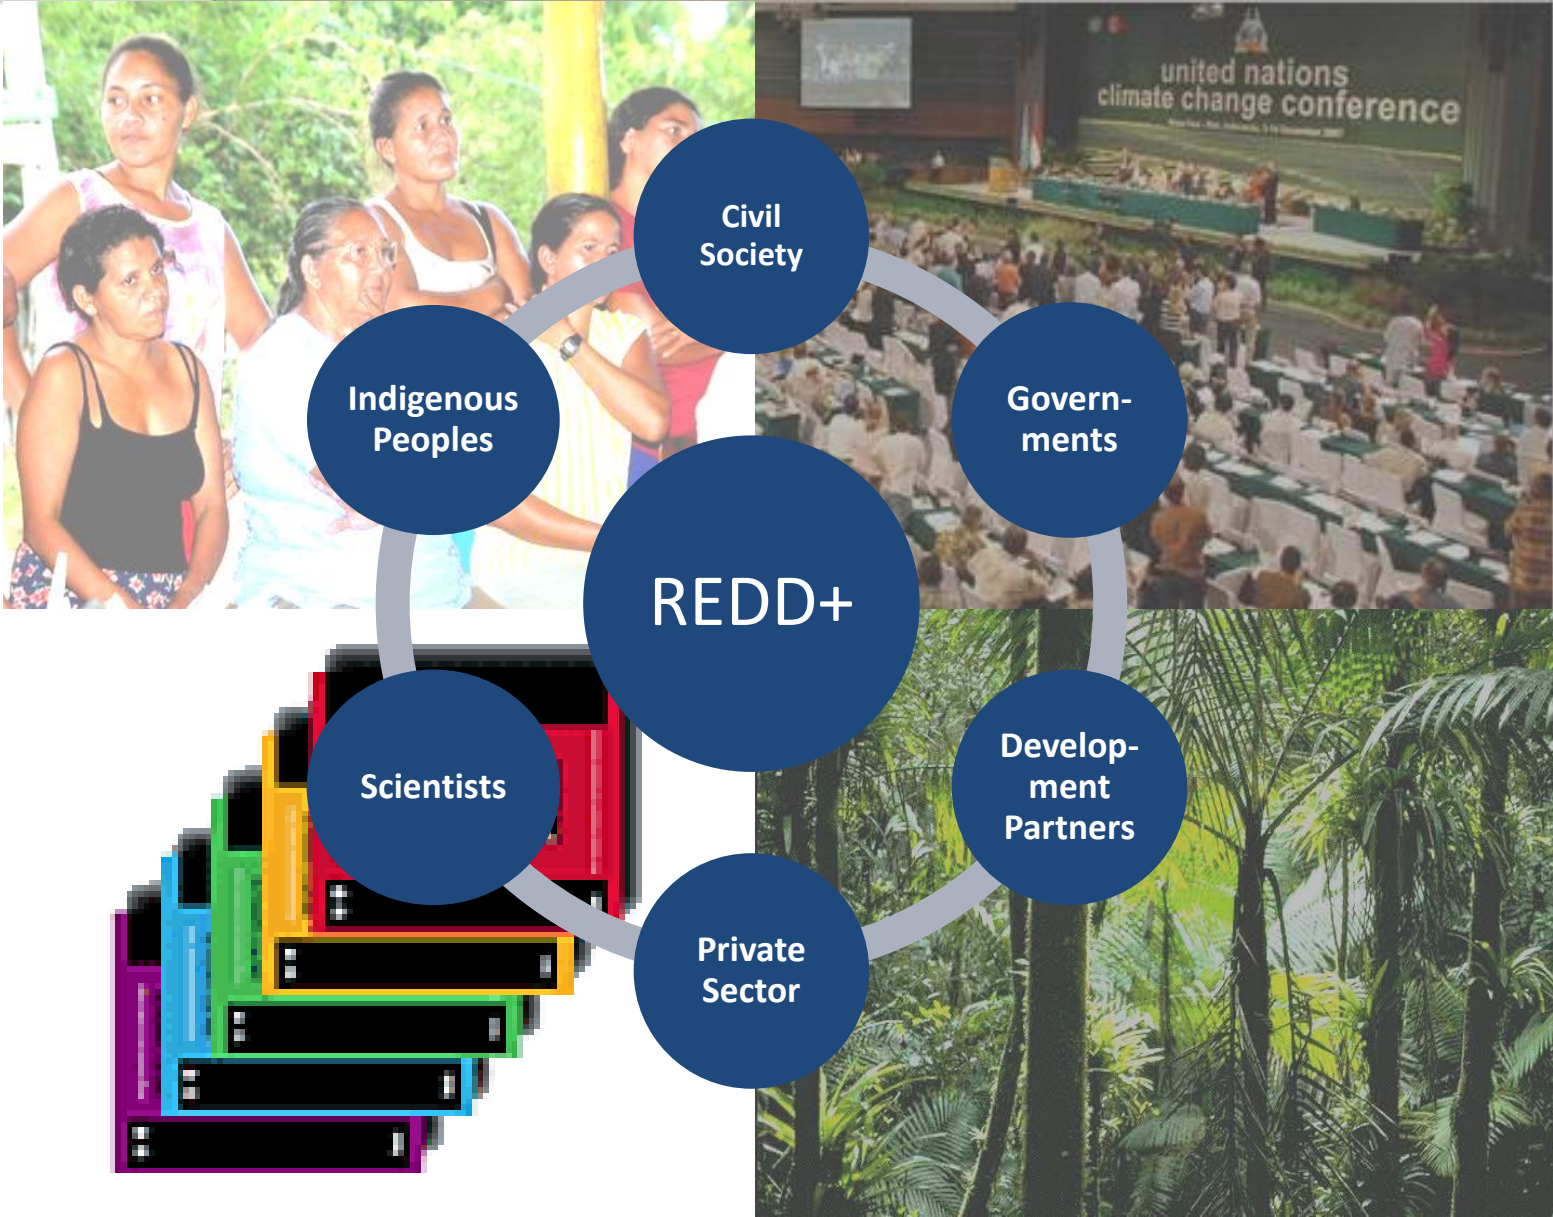

Finance for REDD+ in UNFCCC

- Multiple sources of finance for REDD+
 - Public & private
 - Bilateral, multilateral & alternative
 - Phases 1 and 2: Bilateral and multilateral assistance (to help countries develop their national strategies for REDD+, build their capacity and undertake demonstration activities)
 - Phase 3: COP17 from Durban provides for “appropriate market-based approaches” could be developed that ensure “environmental integrity” (i.e., neutrality or reduction in emissions) and fully respect the safeguards for REDD+

Outline

- 2. Overview of the FCPF
3. Indigenous Peoples and the FCPF

FCPF: A Partnership to Make REDD+ Happen

FCPF and REDD+: Strategic Objectives

1- Help countries become ready for REDD+

2- Pilot payments based on performance (equitable and at scale)

FCPF

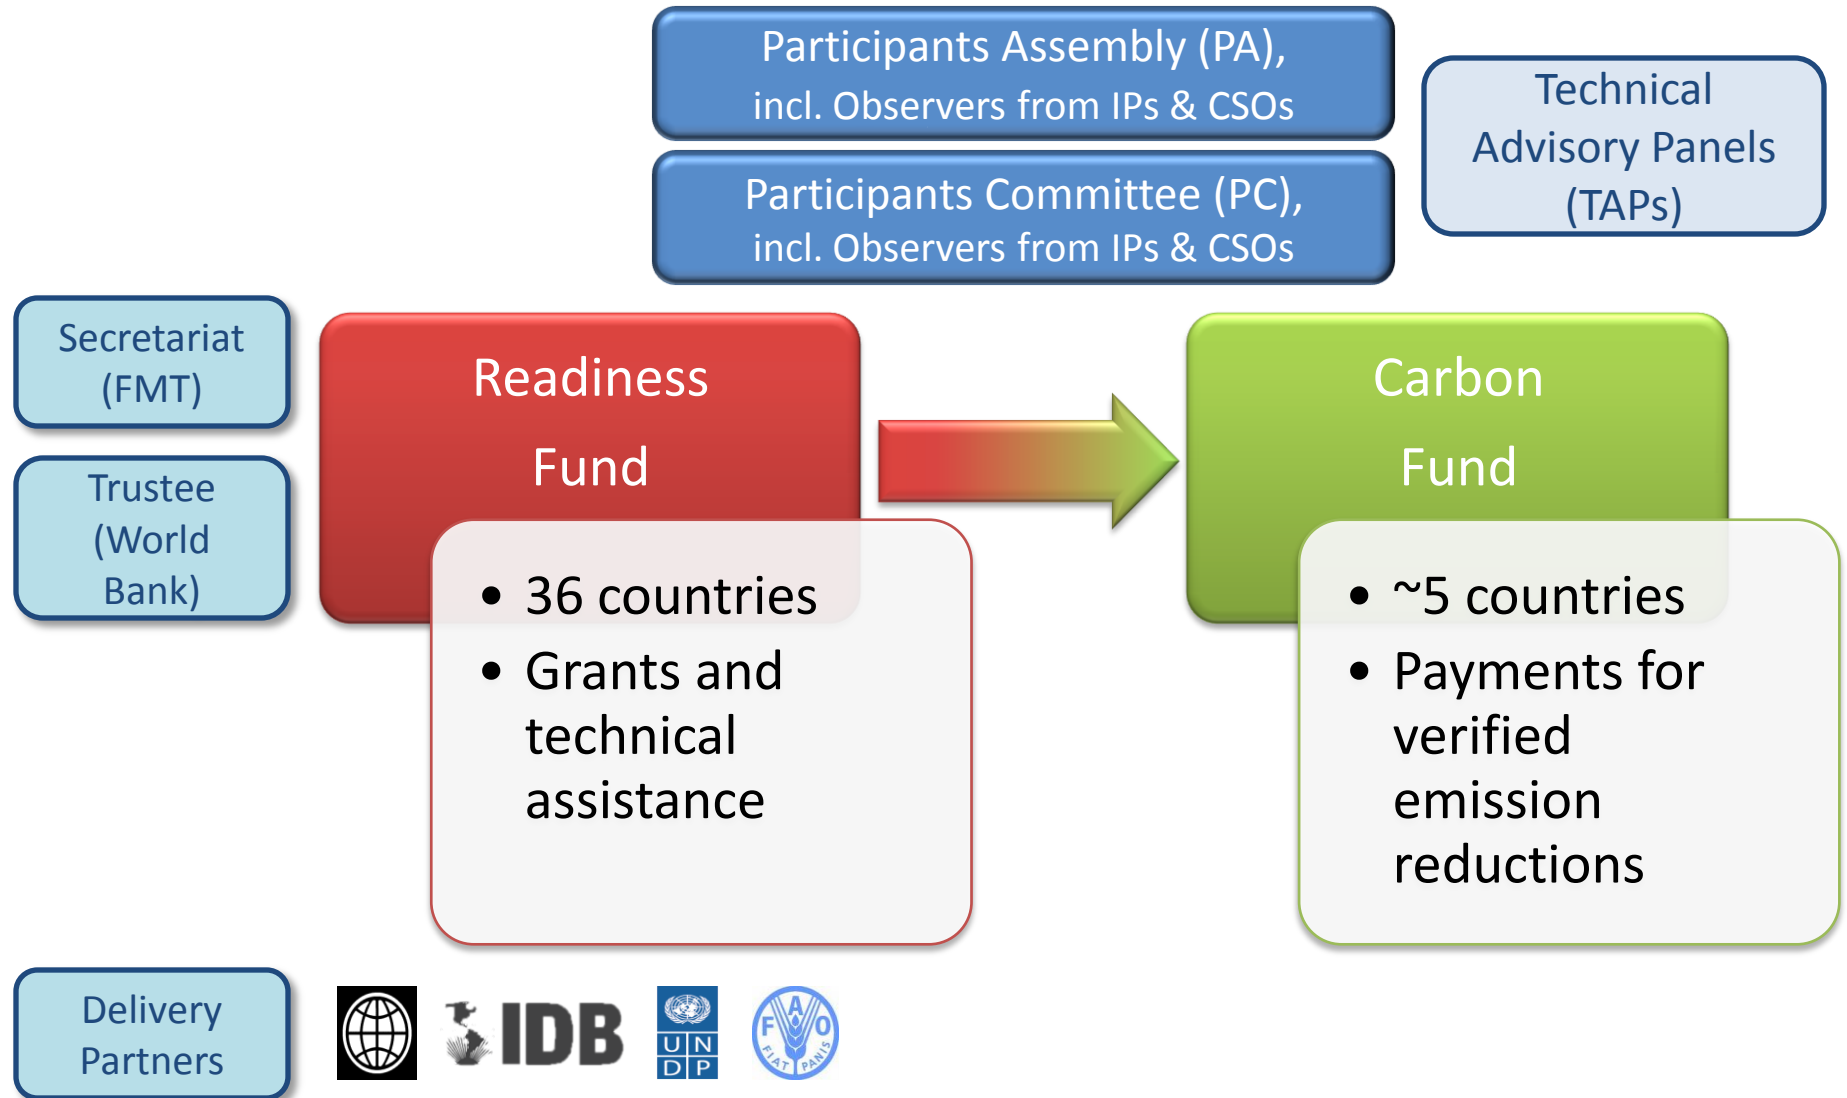

3- Pilot ways to improve livelihoods and conserve biodiversity

4- Disseminate lessons learned

FCPF and the UNFCCC

- Not the same thing
 - FCPF is a demonstration activity, the design of which started in 2006 (before COP13 in Bali)
 - Funded voluntarily
 - Aligns with the emerging policy guidance of the UNFCCC
 - Informs the UNFCCC negotiations through country-led implementation
 - FCPF has a set lifetime: due to close in 2020
- FCPF and Phases of REDD+
 - Phases 1 and 2

FCPF: Structure and Governance (1)

FCPF: Structure and Governance (2)

- FCPF was designed with responsibilities given to the World Bank (WB) to serve 3 roles:
 1. Trustee (fund management)
 2. Secretariat (Facility Management Team, providing overall coordination)
 3. 'Delivery Partner' (DP, i.e., implementing agency)
- WB operational policies and procedures apply (when the WB acts as DP)
- WB is not a decision maker in the PA or PC

FCPF: Structure and Governance (3)

- Multiple Delivery Partner Arrangement
 - Pilot arrangement approved in 2011
 - Max 10 countries in the pilot phase
 - FAO, IDB and UNDP approved as DPs
 - 9 countries out of 10 approved individually and paired with DP other than the WB (IDB and UNDP)
 - Decision to operationalize the MDP arrangement subject to
 - Review of lessons learned
 - Mid-term review of 2 countries per DP

FCPF: Structure and Governance (4)

MDP arrangement is an FCPF-specific mechanism, different from the UN-REDD Programme

An aerial photograph of a vast, dense forest. The trees are mostly green, with some brownish patches, suggesting a mix of species or perhaps a dry season. In the upper right corner, a small body of water is visible, surrounded by more trees. The overall scene is a lush, natural landscape.
